Celebrating 25 years of
giggles, memories and fun!

This year's musical piece is "Route 66" by Michael Daugherty. It musically imagines a trip down U.S. Route 66 through elements of jazz and orchestral writing. Daugherty uses unique elements to convey musical "pit stops" throughout the piece, like a tuba solo signifying the only traffic light on the journey and rhythms in the drums and trumpets acting like the yellow painted lines along the highway. By the end of the piece, the mixture of jazz and classical styles takes the listener from Illinois all the way to California - all in only 8 minutes!

About Route 66

Big Arts in the Little Apple

Big Arts in the Little Apple, an annual collaboration with The Building for Kids, Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra and Appleton Area School District, encourages students to explore the connections between music and visual art. While listening to a chosen piece of music, students are encouraged to imagine the visual aspects in the music and how different elements in the music made them feel. It is through critically listening to the music that students are able to make the creative connections to inspire their pieces.

This year students from 20 elementary schools explored the intersection where art and music meet with the piece "Route 66" by Michael Daugherty. The over 800 students created art pieces that range from collage to acrylic, abstract to landscape, and capture the their wide range of creativity and talent.
